

#14 LUXE TOUCHES

If you want to lend your kitchen a super-sophisticated feel, think book-matched marble splashbacks and rose-gold taps. A good source of inspiration is specialist brand Martin Moore & Company's new Notting Hill showroom, where you can see a wide range of luxuriously detailed hand-built kitchens, including the 'Classic' system (pictured). Bespoke kitchens from £35,000; 176 Westbourne Grove, London W11 (martinmoore.com).

#15 THE DETAILS LIGHT SWITCHES

Why restrict yourself to plain white switches and sockets? These smart picks will introduce subtle accents of colour and texture to your scheme.

#16 TOP TIPS FROM THE DECORATORS

CAROLINE LEGRAND

Once part of Anya Hindmarch's team, Belgian designer Caroline Legrand applies her laid-back, glamorous style to city apartments, spas and beach houses – see above for a selection of her work (carolinelegranddesign.com; @CarolineLegrand).

- 1 Do reupholster sofas and chairs when redecorating. Changing fabrics, colours and textures can give a piece fresh life and is usually cheaper than buying new.
- 2 Do reuse furniture. Be smart about storing, restyling or giving things away. Furniture, like clothes, goes through a fashion cycle.
- 3 Do move your art around once a year. It gives your home a new look at no cost and allows you to view your artworks afresh.
- 4 Do buy magazines to get inspiration. Ninety per cent of my moodboards come from interiors, fashion and travel magazines. I rip out pages that feature things that catch my eye.
- 5 Don't have white walls unless you have a lot of art. It's hard to make a house look warm with plain walls. If you want a white backdrop, use textured finishes or wallpapers to add warmth.
- 6 Don't buy furniture without first seeing how it fits in your room. It's best to have the piece delivered: the cost is usually worth it compared with making a purchase you won't want. Space and measurements can be deceptive when you're in the shop.
- 7 Don't buy everything in one store. Your house will end up looking like a showroom and it will have no soul.
- 8 Don't forget to put dimmers in every room. Lighting is the most important thing in a home and creates an instant mood.

MY SPRING UPDATES After working on a project in Ibiza last year, where I used mostly cream, off-white, nutmeg, caramel and light-brown woods, I'd like to change my colour scheme. I want wood, glass, concrete and stone in my home, as well as green plants. My next dream project would be a greenhouse in the centre of the house with all of the rooms around it. I also change the fragrance in my space once a year, so I plan to buy new scented candles. I use the same scent throughout the interior: there's nothing worse than a different smell in every room.
